

Beth Thompson, MD

Swedish Family Medicine – First Hill

Medical School:

University of Washington School of Medicine

Clinical Interest:

Pediatrics, adolescent care, women's health, mental health, dermatology, global health

My Philosophy of Care:

I desire to partner with patients to determine the medical, lifestyle, and social factors that affect their health. I believe patients need a provider who listens to their concerns and works to find the correct diagnosis and treatment. I promote effective use of medical therapies, lifestyle, and mindfulness to improve patient's health, day to day well-being, and medical outcomes.

Personal Interest:

running, reading, piano, learning new things, traveling
