

Attention Visitors and Family Members

Providence has visitation limits in place for flu season:

- Visitors must be 12 years of age or older. Exceptions are made for well children who are immediate family members of the patient.
- Visitors to intensive care, maternity and pediatric units are limited to those essential to a patient's emotional well-being and care.
- Check in at the nurses' station before visiting a patient's room.
- Please return home – without visiting your loved ones – if you have cold or flu-like symptoms.

For more details on our visitation guidelines, please speak with a nurse or patient information representative.

Thank you!
